ACME
MANUFACTURING

EMAIL THREAD

PO-77821 | 10-16 Oct 2026

PO-77821 delivery confirmation

From: Angela Chen
To: Leo Park
Date: 10 Oct 2026, 09:12

Hi Leo, confirming the 1,000 units under PO-77821 are still scheduled for delivery to Acme Receiving Dock A on 15 Oct. Please send the delivery note before arrival.

Re: PO-77821 delivery confirmation

From: Leo Park
To: Angela Chen
Date: 10 Oct 2026, 09:34

Confirmed. Our dispatch record shows 1,000 units scheduled for 15 Oct. Delivery note DN-11000 will travel with the shipment.

Receiving issue - PO-77821

From: M. Lau
To: Angela Chen ; Leo Park
Date: 15 Oct 2026, 16:08

Receiving count is complete. We counted 940 units against 1,000 expected, so there is a 60-unit shortage. Several cartons also show visible damage. Quality will inspect tomorrow and issue a final supported damage count.

Preliminary damage claim - PO-77821

From: Angela Chen
To: Leo Park
Date: 16 Oct 2026, 10:21

Warehouse initially flagged 70 units as damaged. We are holding the final adjustment until the inspection report and photo set are reconciled.

IR-99211 evidence reconciliation

From: J. Wong
To: Angela Chen ; Leo Park
Date: 16 Oct 2026, 13:46

Inspection IR-99211 is complete. Of the 70 units initially reported damaged, 55 are supported by inspection findings and warehouse photos W-01 to W-06. We could not verify distinct evidence for the remaining 15 units.

Re: IR-99211 evidence reconciliation

From: Leo Park
To: Angela Chen
Date: 16 Oct 2026, 14:10

Understood. Nova Packaging agrees that any commercial adjustment should use the documented shortage of 60 units and the 55 supported damaged units rather than the preliminary 70-unit damage claim.

Evidence note

This thread establishes that 70 damaged units was a preliminary claim, while 55 damaged units became the evidence-supported figure after inspection and photo reconciliation.